CITY COUNCIL

The regular meeting of the City Council was held in the Council chamber on Monday night, those present being Mayor Collison, Aldermen Gibson, Galbraith and McClure and Secretary Stephenson.

Correspondence

A. Connell wrote requesting a lease of the land at the top of the hill that he has had for the past two years at the same rent of $10.00. Granted.

R. J. Thompson, secretary of the Red Deer Cricket Club, wrote, asking for the use, at the expense of the club, of the city grader on the cricket pitch, which was rough and dangerous. Granted.

H. Kingsett, Red Deer West, wrote, asking that the City lease him the piece of land just west of the C.P.R. tracks on the south side of Victoria Ave. The matter was referred to the Commissioners to bring in a report.

Jas. Brody wanted permission to put a box window for display purposes in the space between the store he occupies and the next building to the west. At present the space is boarded over and unsightly. He would be willing to pay $5.00 for the privilege and the City could ask him to remove the window at any time. Granted.

B. Dennett wrote that the purposed putting in a slot machine, and asked a reduction of the City licence. This is $40.00, and Mr. Dennett pointed out in his letter that in other cities it was only $25.00. The request was refused.

The Financial Post wrote for financial information of the City and the Secretary announced that he had forwarded it.

H. M. Martin, Edmonton, wrote that he would close out all matters that he had started although the cancelation proceedings would ocreafter be in the hands of the Public Utilities Board.

The Edmonton Automobile and Good Roads Association wrote inviting the mayor to a luncheon in Edmonton on May 22nd, to meet Mr. Doolittle, President of the Canadian Good Roads Association. The invitation was referred to the Board of Trade.

The Department of Public Health wrote concerning the public health nurse that they had previously maintained. The government was still willing to pay one half of her salary and expenses and had taken the matter up with the Municipalities of Golden West and Pine Lake, suggesting that the three municipalities cooperate and hire one nurse. The Mayor pointed out that the Municipality of Golden West had already declined to do anything in the matter, and he felt that the city should do nothing. Taxes were very high at present and more should not be added to expenditures. There being such a small number of Councillors present, and these being equally divided over the matter, it was laid over to next meeting.

Mr. Waide, agent for the Massey-Harris Co., appeared in person before the Council, asking an adjustment of the business taxes assessed against the company last year and this. Last year the assessment had been mailed to Mr. Ramsey, and Mr. Waide had not received it in time to appeal. He had appealed this year and won. The matter was laid over to another meeting when Mr. Waide will state his case before a large Council.

The Commissioners brought in the following report:

Commissioners' Report

1. The gravelling of Ross Street between 2nd and 3rd Avenues has been completed. We will have gravel hauled to the other main streets when time is available during the summer.

2. Foreman Jones will commence repairing sidewalks next week. It is our intention to have the worst walks attended to first. Cinders are available this spring to make cinder walks.

3. Regarding tax exemption claimed by A. Forrester for building rented to the Dominion Government as an Armoury: We wrote to a number of cities and towns regarding their practice and submit replies received. In no can we find where a municipality exempts property from municipal taxes that is rented to the Dominion Government.

4. We called for tenders for the renting of the unsubdivided part of Woodlea and submit replies received. We recommend that the offer of N. Willetts to crop it and give the

CRICKET

The Red Deer Cricket Club opened their season on Monday with a match between teams representing the Captain and Vice-Captain. The Captain's eleven batted first, but fared rather disastrously, four wickets falling for no runs, owing to the effective bowling of Neal, Stonehouse and Hopkins, however, made a good showing, compiling 58 before the 5th wicket fell. At the close of the evening's play the score was 78 for six wickets. The game will be resumed this Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock sharp.

THANKS TO CITIZENS

May 11th, 1923.

The Editor, Red Deer News:

I would like to thank all those who offered, and gave, motor cars and draying service to our Hebridean settlers who have just arrived.

I think the public showed a splendid spirit in giving these good people such a hearty welcome.

It is refreshing to find that the spirit of service is so manifest in our people.

People are beginning to gradually realize that the joy and mental exhilaration that is obtained through giving a little service and co-operation to our fellow-man, as he is passing along, is worth while.

Sincerely yours,

R. B. WELLIVER,
Chairman of Reception and Transportation Committees.

BUSINESS INCREASES 35 PERCENT.

More cream is coming in to the Red Deer creameries this year than last, and we are pleased to report that the butter output of the Dairy Products Creamery for the first two weeks in May showed the marked increase of 35 percent. over the same period in 1922. For the first two weeks in May the output of this well known creamery was 11,275 pounds, nearly one thousand pounds of butter per day.

RED DEER EXHIBITION

Prize List Cut Down to About $4,600

The Agricultural Society met in the city hall, Saturday night, with President Donald Smith, acting Secretary Bjorkeland and Messrs. Hogg, Stone, Richards, VanSlyke, Wallace, McKinnon, Hill, Cruickshanks, Willson, Bowser, Galbraith, Wellver, Patterson and McIlroy present.

A letter was read from the Canadian Passenger Association concerning special rates. The letter was filed, and the secretary instructed to take the matter of special rates on the L. & N. W. Railway, west of Lacombe, up with the proper authorities.

The Lethbridge Exhibition Board wrote asking for the new prize list as adopted in Red Deer.

Applications from Florence Masson, Edmonton, to be appointed judge of cooking, etc., and one from J. D. Lyons, Tacoma, for a grandstand attraction, were ordered filed, as was a letter from a printing concern in Edmonton who wanted the printing of the Society.

The secretary tabled the circular letter from the Superintendent of Fairs recommending new regulations and prize lists.

Mr. Galbraith and Mr. Bjorkeland reported on behalf of the budget committee. They estimated that receipts would be smaller than last year, and recomended that expenditures be kept down. they itemized the receipts and expenditures for the past two years, and these were the basis of considerable discussion from those present.

Mr. Galbraith reported that the committee dealing with special prizes had collected over $500.00 in cash and merchandise and hoped they would get $700.00.

Mr. Bjorkeland read the prize list for 1923 as recommended by the committee. It followed pretty closely the model sent out by the government, but sufficient prize money was offered in the purebred stock to entitle the Society to the grants from the various livestock associations. It was adopted by the meeting with one or two very slight changes. It eliminates a great number of classes that have previously been in, but does not reduce the individual prizes greatly.

The total prize list will be around $4,600.00, which is a great reduction over last year.

There was some discussion over advertising in the prize list, and it was decided to have no advertising, as it would be unfair to those who gave special prizes. Mr. Van Slyke announced that the Central Alberta Livestock Shipping Association offered a special prize of $15.00 and $10.00 for the best finished bacon hog of any breed, but that if there was to be advertising in the prize list, he thought they would cut down on the prize and take an ad.

There were two applications for the position of Secretary, one from L. J. Porter, who asked $95.00 for three months or $185.00 for a year, and Ralph Patterson, who asked $300.00 a year, payable monthly. No decision was reached as to the appointment, and it was referred to a special committee to make a recommendation at the next meeting on Friday, May 18th.

RIDGEWOOD NEWS

Seeding operations are almost completed in this district with the exception of grain feed sowing and sunflowers for the trench silos. The conditions so far are very encouraging, there being sufficient moisture to give a good start, and with a good rain next month we'll be well away for a bumper crop.

Mr. Brady is drilling a new well for Mr. Alex. Kennedy.

There will be a box social and dance in the Community Hall on Friday evening, May 18th. We are expecting a big crowd and are extending a cordial invitation to everybody. Ladies are asked to kindly provide boxes, as we will be compelled to charge $1.00 admission to all those who come without boxes.

We would suggest to the young men who had their young ladies out car riding on Sunday evening that it would be well to have their car in better shape next time they venture out. Having to walk home after a little ride is unpleasant medicine to take.

Some of our aspirants for dramatic fame are contemplating putting on a performance some time next month. Great results are expected. Full particulars later on.

The interior of the Community Hall presents a very noticeable touch of improvement since the ceiling has been put on. Let's appoint some day soon to fix fences and clean up the yard.

PROHIBITION CONVENTION

A meeting of those interested in prohibition organization in the Red Deer Provincial Constituency will be held at the Presbyterian Church hall next Tuesday, May 22nd, at 2.30 p.m. Mr. H. H. Hull, from Edmonton, will be present.

BASEBALL

After the sports Penhold and Red Deer played their first game in the inter-school baseball league. The Red Deer boys started like world-beaters, both in their batting and fielding, while Penhold were weak in both departments. The score at the end of the 4th inning was 8-2 in Red Deer's favor. Daws on the mound for Red Deer had fanned seven men in the four innings. His arm gave out, and he was replaced in the 5th inning by Cole, who did not fare well. Aided by a flock of errors on the part of Red Deer, Penhold made 9 runs in that one inning and aided the game away. Each team got one more run in the 6th, and the game ended 12-6 in favor of Penhold. Wellver pitched the last inning for Red Deer, but the latter does not know yet where he will be stationed for the summer.

Simpson, of Penhold, fanned only three men during the game, but after the first inning got excellent support.

The Penhold U.F.A. Local is sure the place to get your empty heads full of real up-to-date logic.

The costumes were very cleverly done, and made a very charming picture. "Blowing Bubbles" made a most fetching tableau. RED DEER PATIENTS WILL BE TAKEN TO EDMONTON SHORTLY

Mentally Deficient Children Will Be Moved to Red Deer in About a Month

Within a month's time preparations will probably have been completed by the provincial government for the transfer of adult insane patients from the Red Deer asylum to the new home at Oliver, near Edmonton, originally designed for the care of mentally deficient children.

This transfer will practically be an exchange, for the mentally deficient patients now wards of the province in the Strathcona home in Edmonton, will be moved to Red Deer to occupy the quarters vacated by the adult cases now being cared for there. These adult patients number about one hundred, including many returned soldiers. It is estimated that the Red Deer home will accommodate about 150 mentally deficient children when some alterations are made in the building, the institution being erected some years ago for the Red Deer Ladies' college, and purchased by the provincial government before the close of the war for the care of soldier patients.

Hon. R. G. Reid, minister of health, and Hon. Alex Ross, minister of public works, have just returned from Red Deer, where they were looking into the plans for transferring patients in about one month's time. Mr. Reid says the institution at Oliver is practically ready for occupancy and can comfortably house about 200 patients within a few days it is likely that the gardener and a number of his helpers and some of the patients will be removed from Red Deer to the new home.

Although Mr. Reid stated that plans were not mature to this extent, it is understood that the institution at Oliver, which is located on about 900 acres of land, will probably be the nucleus of a second insane asylum in the province, the hospital at Ponoka now approaching the point where it cannot be extended much further as an economical plant. The institution at Oliver was commenced by the recent government as a home for the mentally deficient in the province. Mr. Reid says, whether it will eventually be used for this purpose depends largely on what policy of public responsibility will be adopted as to the care of all such persons by the state in the future.

Two new units are nearing completion at the mental hospital at Ponoka, Mr. Reid says; these to provide accommodation for 400 patients. However, the present overcrowding of the existing units with about 800 patients will take up a considerable amount of the additional space being made available. Altogether, the province has about 1,000 mental patients on its hands at the present time. A new dining-room is also nearing completion at Ponoka.

BANK CHANGES

Mr. J. A. Hale, manager of the Royal Bank here since his return from the front, has been appointed to manage the Halkirk branch of the Royal Bank.

Mr. Hale has been a splendid worker on the executive of the G.W.V.A., who showed their appreciation of him and their regret for his departure by presenting him on Monday night with a beautiful cut glass berry bowl.

Mr. L. L. Mason has arrived from Yorkton, Sask., and taken up his work as accountant in the Imperial Bank.

THE ROTARY CLUB

The weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club was held Friday last, May 11th, when Reg. Taylor was unanimously accepted as an associate member. The speaker of the day was G. C. S. Boy Scouts, who spoke on the aims and objects of the Boy Scout movement.

Mr. Crosby prefaced his remarks by saying that in his opinion the reason for a certain amount of lack of interest in the Boy Scout movement was that so very few people knew exactly what the boy scout training was. In fact, most people merely recognized Boy Scouts by the fact that they habitually had bare knees, and vaguely knew that they were engaged in some kind of special training leading to good citizenship.

Mr. Crosby took the career of the average boy joining the Boy Scouts, in which he briefly summarized the various tests. Mr. Crosby pointed out that a boy, before he could even join the Scouts, must understand the composition of the Union Jack and how to fly it, become proficient in certain knots and must be familiar with the Scout Law.

A Scout's Law was as follows:

1. A Scout's honour is to be trusted.
2. A Scout is loyal to his king, his country, his officers, his employers, his employees and comrades.
3. A Scout's duty is to be useful and to help others.
4. A Scout is a friend to all and a brother to every other Scout.
5. A Scout is courteous.
6. A Scout is a friend to animals.
7. A Scout obeys orders.
8. A Scout smiles and whistles in all difficulties.
9. A Scout is truthful.
10. A Scout is clean in thought, word and deed.

On becoming proficient in these things, the Scout is entitled to become a tenderfoot. Mr. Crosby described the ceremony of initiation, and the Scout's promise, namely:

1. To be loyal to God and the King;
2. To help others at all times;
3. To obey the Scout Law.

After enrolment, in order to become a second class Scout, the tenderfoot learns elementary first aid and bandaging, signalling, the art of tracking and observation. He learns how to tie and light a fire in the open, and the elements of out-of-door cooking. Mr. Crosby then sketched his further progress until the boy qualified as first class Scout, which means that he can signal at least 16 letters a minute; has at least a dollar in the savings bank, and is able to swim at least 50 yards. As a test of self-reliance he is sent on a journey of which he must render an intelligible report. He must know how to render first aid to common accidents. He must prove that he is an out-door cook. He must know how to read a map; must know how to judge distance and size within a reasonable error; he must be able to fell a tree and be fairly proficient with the axe and ordinary tools.

After he has become a first class Scout the boy is entitled to wear proficiency badges, which are badges given for proficiency in any particular line of work which the boy has taken up. These cover practically everything from electrician to carpenter or from marksman to naturalist.

Mr. Crosby then spoke of the Wolf Cub movement, which takes boys between the ages of 8 and 11 who are too young to join the Scouts proper. He quoted the Wolf Cubs' promise: "To be loyal to God and the King and to do a good turn every day."

The speaker then pointed out the five great departments of Scout training, firstly in public service and chivalry, secondly in health and endurance, thirdly in patriotism, fourthly, life saving and first aid, and fifthly in woodcraft and nature study. This training is given by means of games and competitions, which link up the departments with the three great principles behind the Scout movement, the development of the Scout's individuality, the development of his sense of duty and personal service, and the development of his craftsmanship. The speaker pointed out how wonderfully the Scout training appealed to the boy nature, and, by means of his very play, trains his character in such a way that makes the finest possible citizen of the whole community. He mentioned that the Scout training under the patrol system caters to the boy's desire to play in "gangs," the average boy has also a great sense of romance and chivalry, although if he was told so he would probably hotly deny it. Scouting games with their touch of the Red Indian, the cave-man and the knight errant appeal to this sense of romance. Scouting also gives a healthy, sane, outlet for the boys' natural overflowing animal spirits. It cultivates his initiative and self-reliance, as nothing is given to a Boy Scout unless he has earned it. Some real work must be done by the boy before he is granted even his tenderfoot badge. The Scout training to help others at all times, a good turn every day, teaches courtesy, respect and thoughtfulness.

Mr. Crosby then spoke of the amazing growth of the Scout move-

WHEN A FELLER NEEDS A FRIEND

One of our new settlers asked Mr. Callender where to get the best beer in town. Mr. Callender blushed kind of shy like, but referred him to the Chief, and he was next seen taking the question up with the genial Medicine Medy of the Imperial Bank, who was in uniform.

RED CROSS WORK

Already at the headquarters of the Alberta Provincial Branch, Red Cross Society, the essays for the Junior members competition are arriving from many schools in the country. The subjects are, for grades five and six, "Good Health and How to Keep It," and for grades seven and eight, "The Art of Keeping Well." The time limit is May 31st, so there is yet an opportunity for many to compete. The best essays will be printed in the "Red Cross Junior," the official organ of the young people who are members of the Red Cross Society. The silver and bronze medals are the gift of the Lieutenant-Governor, and as honors will be a handsome souvenir of school days, for their fortunate winners. Then there is the hospital competition, in which the health play is a special feature. Every branch of the Junior Red Cross is asked to get up a Red Cross entertainment, one item of which must be the production of a health play. The branch raising most money on a percentage basis of the number attending school, will receive as a prize a valuable first aid kit, which will prove of great use to rural schools in the event of emergency or accident. A new shipment of plays has arrived at headquarters, and any branch is at liberty to send in for these for the use of their Red Cross entertainment. The plays are supplied free of charge. This is in the little handbook, published by the Red Cross Society for the Junior work, a supplement dealing with the production of plays, with suggestions for the best way to stage them. A number of schools have been practising for some time, and already sent in their returns from entertainments at which they featured a health play. Teachers everywhere are endorsing this new and attractive form of teaching hygiene and health laws, combining as it does the art of dramatisation which is at present one of the requirements of the educational curriculum for this province. The time limit for the hospital competition is June 30th, and it is hoped that every branch large or small will make a special effort to raise funds in this attractive way for the Junior Red Cross Hospital in Calgary. The sick children there are the special charge of the Red Cross Juniors, whose money, every cent of it, goes direct to the upkeep of this splendid Red Cross Hospital, where so many children, crippled and maimed seemingly beyond repair, are getting a chance in life, and by the providence of God through the agency of the Red Cross Juniors of Alberta are being cured of their sicknesses.

A Boston sportsman, having just returned from the Maine woods, tells of an incident that happened in one of the small country stores in the Pine Tree State. Affected with a cold one day, and consequently forced to remain indoors, the hunter went to the village store in search of something to read. Robert Browning he held as his favorite author, so he promptly asked the rather elderly shopkeeper to look over his shelves and see if he had Browning's works among a small array of books tucked away in an obscure corner.

"Nope," replied the storeman, running over the shelves, "we got bluing, blacking, and whiting, but I don't see no browning anywhere."—Boston Record.

TWO HOLLANDERS SEEKING FATHER LOST IN CALGARY

Stranded, Nearly Starved and Penniless; Taken to Immigration Offices

Calgary, May 13.—Nearing starvation, lost, tired and travel worn, two young immigrants from Holland alighted from the westbound Canadian Pacific train at the depot yesterday afternoon, stranded in a strange land. The two, Anton and Wilhimina Ropas, brother and sister, were taken to the offices of Arnold F. George, of the federal department, of immigration, by an agent of the Travellers' Aid, who noticed them at the station, and H. Billmann, a Calgarian, who is conversant with the language of the Netherlands.

The lad, who is 21 years old, and his sister, who is 14, told a most pitiful story.

They had left Antwerp on the steamship Minnedosa, arriving in Quebec Monday, May 7, and coming on the C.P.R. to the west, desiring to reach Evarts, a town west of Red Deer, where their father, Anton Ropas, is a farmer. Unable to speak English, not conversant with conditions here, shy, diffident and lacking sufficient funds to carry them through the long journey, the two had met many obstacles. This they told Mr. George through Mr. Billman, who acted as interpreter.

Finally, two days ago, they had eaten their last meal, and on Thursday, while on board train, the brother and sister had shared their last crust of bread.

Mr. George immediately communicated with Mayor John Collison of Red Deer in an effort to locate the father, while the youth was taken to the Y.M.C.A. and the girl to the Y.W.C.A. where they will be cared for by the Travellers' Aid, in the meantime.

"I heard there was a high-toned wedding in your town yesterday."

"Yes."

"Did it go off without a hitch?"

"Indeed it did."

"Everybody happy?"

"Everybody nothing! Everybody mad as hornets. The bridegroom didn't show up. The bride's got the screeching hysterics, and the bride's brother is out with a shotgun."

"But you said it went off without a hitch."

"Well, didn't it? How could there be a hitch without the bridegroom?"

"His aim in life seems to be a poor one."

"Yes; he inherits that from his mother. I once saw her throw a stone at a dog in the street and hit her husband in the back yard."

"Don't you know, Emily, that it is not proper for you to turn around and look after a gentleman?"

"But, mamma, I was only looking to see if he was looking to see if I was looking."

"Mother, do they make books out of water?"

"No, my child, why do you ask such a foolish question?"

"Nuthin', only I read the other day about an immense volume of water."

M.D. OF GOLDEN WEST

The third regular meeting of the Council of the Municipal District of Golden West, No. 371, was held in the municipal office at Sylvan Lake on May 5. Meeting opened at 1 o'clock, Reeve Rogers in the chair, Councillors Braithwaite, Beeson, Stringer, Isaacson and Smith, and A. McCaskill, secretary-treasurer, in attendance.

The Department advised, under date April 26, that the name and number of school district and the address of the secretary be included in Tax Certificates issued regarding lands where taxes are collected by the school districts.

The Chief Fire Inspector wrote under date of April 4, asking the co-operation of Councillors in preventing the spread of fires.

Letters dated April 7 and 12 were received from the Provincial Hail Insurance Board, explaining the increase volume of business carried by the Hail Board in the province.

The Esdale Press of Edmonton sent credit note for $2 for overcharge made on tax roll sheets.

A. E. Hope, C.P.R. tax agent, wrote under date April 19 regarding cancelled contract on S.W. 15-38-1-5. The secretary was instructed regarding reply.

R. J. Doran, secretary of the Burnt Lake Better Farming Club, wrote stating that it was the desire of the Club to cultivate and seed down certain roads in their community, and asked the permission of the Council to do so for the purpose of improving the appearance of the locality. The Council were unanimous in approval of the undertaking.

Reeve Rogers reported for Building committee appointed at the last meeting, that Councillor Smith and himself had met with the Councillors of the Village of Sylvan Lake, and had decided that a municipal office building be built on the lots already approved by the Council, the building to be 20x30x9 feet, to be erected on cement foundation, and lathed and plastered inside. The expense of construction and cost of lots to be divided equally between the Municipality and the Village of Sylvan Lake. This was approved on motion by Councillor Stringer. It was further reported that the contract for supplying the material was given to the Atlas Lumber Co. of Sylvan Lake for $605, the lowest bid received, and the contract for building to John Larka for the sum of $230, not including the painting.

Moved by Rogers that the secretary draw the attention of the C.P.R. to the necessity of repairing a bridge on the road between sections 16 and 17-38-28 W. 4th, and building a new bridge on the road between sections 17 and 18-38-28, W. 4th., both crossing the canal draining Cygnet Lake.

The secretary was instructed, on motion by Isaacson, to order a carload of 3 inch tamarac or fir plank, 18 feet long, to be delivered not later than the first of June.

The following resolution was unanimously agreed to:—Moved by Councillor Stringer, and resolved that this Council learn with deep regret of the death in Portland, Oregon, of Earl S. Grimson, who for so many years faithfully and satisfactorily served as Secretary-Treasurer of the Municipality, and our sincerest sympathies are now with his bereaved relatives.

The matter of the Municipal safe being of inadequate size to hold the assessment and tax rolls, and all the records of the office, was brought up by Reeve Rogers, who advised that a larger and more suitable safe was in the office of the Great West Lumber Co. at Red Deer, and was available for the sum of $80, and a motion to secure it at that price delivered at Sylvan Lake was agreed to by unanimous vote.

Councillor Isaacson's resolution regarding the extending of the period of redemption under the Tax Recovery Act, from one year to three years, was again taken up and further discussed and voted on: Isaacson for and Rogers, Braithwaite, Beeson, Stringer and Smith against.

On motion of Councillor Smith, the Secretary was instructed to advise Mike Berthenson that the road on the west side of his land will be opened up this summer, and it will be necessary for him to move the fence off the road allowance.

The following was moved by Councillor Stringer and agreed to: Resolved, that legal proceedings should be taken against any person or persons moving gravel, sand or earth away from the roads or road allowances in the Municipality, and also against any person dumping refuse on same. Carried.

The following accounts were passed for payment:—Account road work: Div. 2—Swan Bystrom $4, Elijah Monteith $64, Clay White $3, Geo. Moore $2; Div. 5—Chas. Pass $4. Department of Public Health, account Shacklock, $60.

Date of next meeting set for June 16.

Cutlery sharp. Aviation supplies going up. Molasses sluggish. Stoves warming up. Rubber tires much inflated. Limburger cheese remains strong. Dynamite opened up actively. Indications are that the coming year will be one of unequalled prosperity unless a panic or something else prevents.

She—"I'm glad you like them. They were a birthday present."

"Say, I thought that man that passed us on the street today was a friend of yours."

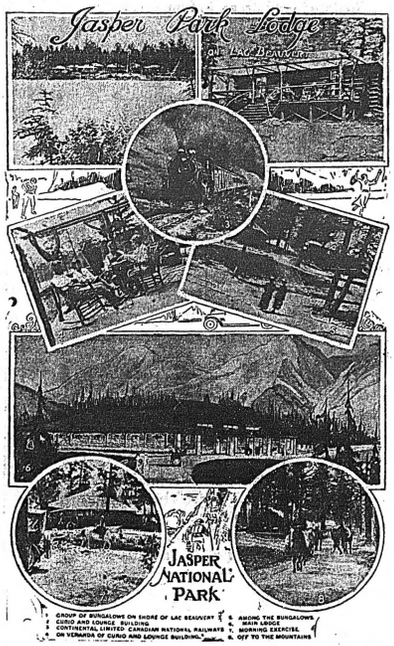
INCREASED ACCOMMODATION AT JASPER PARK LODGE

Open this Season June 1 to September 30—Many Reservations Made—Alberta and B.C. Press Associations Meet There in June

Jasper Park Lodge, the hostelry which the Canadian National Railways has created in an Alpine setting in the heart of Jasper National Park, will be open, for the reception of guests this season June 1 to September 30. Many reservations have been made at this early date, among which are the Alberta and British Columbia Press Associations, which hold their 1923 joint convention at the Lodge on June 7, 8 and 9.

Last year the Canadian National Railways inaugurated a series of Lodges, three miles from Jasper station, which proved so popular to visitors to Jasper National Park that increased accommodation for 1923 became imperative. The enlarged capacity provides for 250 guests and includes a main lodge, containing a large lounge, diningroom and ballroom, billiard room, barber shop, shower baths, ten bedrooms, all connected with private bath and all modern conveniences. A wide verandah encircles the lounge and diningroom, commanding a panoramic view of Lac Beauvert and its magnificant Alpine surroundings; 18 four-room lodges, containing two rooms with two single beds each, two rooms with double bed each, sitting room and bath room; three two-suite lodges each suite comprising bed-sitting room and bath room, bathroom and sleeping porch; two twelve-room buildings containing twelve single rooms with one single bed each; bathrooms and toilet accommodation. All the lodges are of log construction with verandahs, rustic and harmonious, fittingly furnished and electric lighted and steam heated, each bedroom being supplied with running hot and cold water.

Jasper, the station at which tourists detrain, is charmingly situated on a plateau at the base of Pyramid Mountain and close to where the Miette river forms its junction with the Athabasca. As a convenient centre from which tourists may embark upon motor, horseback or hiking trips to various points of interest within or beyond the confines of Jasper National Park, the Lodge occupies an ideal situation. The Park's main artery—an excellent motor road—lies at the very door of the Lodge, where motors, surefooted packhorses and experienced guides are always available for the conducting of tourists to points of interest—either near at hand or distant. Outfits and guides are also here procurable for those desiring to embark on big game hunting ventures beyond the confines of the Park. Riding is the most popular pastime, while for those who enjoy boating and canoeing, facilities for indulging in either pastime on Lac Beauvert are provided. A golf course is under construction, and it is expected will be playable during a portion of the season. Tennis courts will also be available for use of guests.



1. GROUP OF BUNGALOWS ON SHORE OF LAC BEAUVERT
2. CURIO AND LOUNGE BUILDING
3. CONTINENTAL LIMITED CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAYS
4. ON VERANDA OF CURIO AND LOUNGE BUILDING
5. AMONG THE BUNGALOWS
6. MAIN LODGE
7. MORNING EXERCISE
8. OFF TO THE MOUNTAINS

Guests will have the advantages of Canadian National telegraph and express facilities and daily mail service. A resident photographer will be attached to the staff and a curio shop with news-stand is also included. An orchestra will be provided for dancing. Picnic parties can arrange for basket luncheons.

For the convenience of tourists from the United States, a Canada Customs officer will be stationed at Jasper during the season to facilitate the clearance of tourists' baggage, etc., from United States points.

SINCE PROHIBITION

To the Editor of The News.
Dear Sir,—

Many strange things have taken place in Canada since prohibition came in force in the extreme form. A preacher entered a man's home after midnight and shot him to death in the presence of his wife and children. Even if justifiable, it was a strange act for a minister of Christ's gospel. A young lad, so badly crippled that he could not feed or dress himself, was sent to prison for six months for breaking the Ontario Liquor Act. His father, who was an honest and respectable man, had to go and stay in jail with him to administer to his wants—strange, even if necessary.

A new trade and industry has been established, and men have made millions thereby—bootlegging and moonshining.

Thousands have went blind for life by drinking wood alcohol, others have died, and others have went insane.

Officers of the law, the very choice of our manhood, have given their lives trying to enforce prohibition.

A new trail has been blazed throughout Canada, and bootleggers, both men and women, have followed it to the gallows. On May 2nd last a woman was executed for the first time in Alberta. Even if perfectly all right and justifiable, it was very strange and altogether new in Alberta.

But the most startling, the most puzzling, the most incomprehensible of all strange happenings was that some of the W.C.T.U.'s applauded when the Attorney-General announced in the legislature that a man and a woman were to be executed in a short time. Where are we drifting to?

It is a terrible thing to take human life—a tremendous responsibility upon the nation. Personally, I do not think it the best plan, but it is the law of the land, and unless altered, executions must go on. By all means we must have established government and order. But when we take a human life, let us do so with sorrow, as a very sad and grave duty, and not with cheering and hand-clapping, and in a spirit of revenge. We have plenty of preachers, plenty of churches, and their auxiliaries, but so little of the Christian spirit and charity.

Is prohibition directly or indirectly responsible for the extraordinary happenings of late? I think so, indirectly at least. And now prohibitionists are asking us to allow this kind of thing to "continue and develop," as per question "A." What will further development bring? Will the trail to the gallows be more frequently travelled? I believe it will.

Many times we have prayed God to save our boys from the "bar"; now we pray Him to save them and also our girls from the temptation of becoming bootleggers and from the trail to the gallows.

The young woman that was executed the other day (just a girl), had a mother, and until I am informed otherwise, I will believe a good mother. Her heart must be sad—perhaps broken. The young woman was not bad, at least the public has no information showing that she was bad, but the temptation to bootleg was too much for her and she fell. "Lead us not into temptation?" The prayer is not too old, is it? It is not out of date, is it?

Did you and I place this temptation in the way of our fellow man? Did we vote to make bootlegging enticing and profitable? We will have a chance to vote it out of existence.

Others will fall. Will it be mine? Will it be yours? God forbid; but whoever they may be, they will be somebody's loved ones. Some mother's, some father's, heart will break. For that reason I could not cheer on hearing the announcement of an execution.

"Is there no one here who's got any sympathy for me?" were almost the last words of Florence Lasandro. Can we sympathize with a murderess? I can with this one because or partly because I believe we, or twenty thousand of a majority of us, voted to make bootlegging very profitable. Of course, those that voted "dry" (which, by the way, is very misleading), did not intend to establish bootlegging, neither did Florence Lasandra intend to commit murder, but in both cases it just led to that end.

Do we want further "development" of this unwise and intemperate law? I do not; it had developed too far long ago to suit me. I would like to see a Christian temperance law—a law that would not foster bootlegging and moonshining and killing and hanging.

Truly yours,
AMOS WILTON.

BRTITISH EMPIRE IS NOT A BOAST

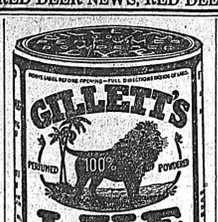
Too Much So in Past and Not Regarded as a Trust, Says Lloyd George

London, May 10.—Declaring that he was a believer in the British Empire, but the empire in the past had been too much of a boast and too little of a trust, former Premier Lloyd George addressed a crowded meeting in city temple last night, under the auspices of the Colonial Missionary Society.

"These treasures, these resources, these people, they are a trust committee by Providence to the charge of the men and women of these islands and their kith and kin beyond the seas," he said. "It is almost a new theory, this theory of a trust," continued Lloyd George. "The first time it was embodied in a great international code was four years ago in the treaty of Versailles. A new sense of beneficence of the British Empire has grown prodigiously in recent years, largely as a result of the war. We now realize the empire means the liberty of the world. That is no exaggeration. Anyone who reads what was done then knows that had it not been for the British Empire liberty would have been overthrown."

Lloyd George went on to refer to the "seven or eight millions" of men who went from the British Empire during the late war, and with an earnest ring in his voice, he added, amid cheers:

"Ah, I wish there was just one word of appreciation of that fact in France and Belgium. They never know when the British Empire may be useful again. It will stand watch over freedom on earth as long as its might remains. If they will record one sentence of gratitude that will make us——"; the rest of the sentence was lost in tumultuous applause.



GOVT. INSPECTION OF MEAT AND CANNED FOOD

Recent attempts to sell veal from calves slaughtered before they have attained the age of three weeks, call attention to the general requirements of the Meat and Canned Foods Act, administered by the Health of Animals Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, and to the regulations thereunder governing the inspection of meats. This Act provides, in the first instance, that all animals intended for slaughter in any establishment must be officially inspected. The word "establishment" means any abattoir, packing house, or other premises on which such animals are slaughtered, or in which any parts thereof or products thereof are prepared for food for export or are stored for export. Every animal affected with disease, or suspected of such disease, must be slaughtered under the supervision of the inspector, and will be disposed of as that inspector may devise according to the regulations. Unless the Minister of Agriculture otherwise directs, upon the report of an inspector, animals owned by farmers and slaughtered by them on their own premises are not subject to inspection under the provisions of the Act. A carcass or any portion thereof may be reinspected at any time.

Under this Act all articles canned and preserved, intemled for food, including fish, fruit, or vegetables, or any food or food product which may be named by the Governor in Council, are subject to inspection, both during preparation and in packing. Imported articles of food are required to have guarantees of inspection at the place of origin and are also subject to inspection in Canada. Inspectors can refuse to inspect or mark articles in any establishment where the sanitary conditions are not satisfactory. Articles of food intended for export are subject to additional inspection and special regulations.

HER CHILD DIES; KIDNAPS ANOTHER

Toronto Woman Dreaded to Go Home to Husband Without a Baby

Toronto, May 9.—Mrs. Margaret Cameron, arrested Tuesday night on a charge of kidnapping a baby from the Alymore Maternity Home, on April 29, was removed from the jail yesterday to hospital. She was found in a cell suffering from internal trouble and bleeding profusely.

Mrs. Cameron was convalescent from an operation at the home, and while there had expressed a desire to adopt a baby. When hospital authorities refused to allow her to leave, she thought they were trying to prevent her from taking the child from the institution, so, during the night, she escaped, taking the baby with her.

When taken into custody Tuesday night; she claimed to be the mother of the child, but later she is said to have declared at the hospital:

"It wasn't my babe, but my husband wanted a baby, and I had gone to the hospital to have one. When my baby died, I didn't want him to know, and he really thought that the baby I brought home was really my own."

The charge against Mrs. Cameron was remanded for a week.

EVARTS

Evarts Caledonian Society held a very successful entertainment and dance in Evarts school house on Friday, April 20th, with A. L. Stewart as chairman. The following assisted of the program: Mrs. Staniforth, Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. Cameron and Miss Burns; Messrs. Stewart, Black, A. McPherson and Piper Spence. Miss Dallaire was the accompanist. The dancing of Messrs. Black and McPherson to the music of Piper Spence was highly appreciated. There was a good attendance. Several gentlemen were in Highland dress.

Those from a distance included J. Friskin, D. Jamieson, J. Stewart and Miss F. Burns of Sylvan Lake, and Mr. and Miss Dallaire of Burnt Lake. An excellent supper was served, and then dancing kept up till an early hour.

THE IMMIGRANTS FROM SCOTLAND

We recorded last week the arrival of the parties of immigrants from the Scottish Hebrides. We wish to take this opportunity to join in the welcome extended to them by the district of Red Deer. Scotland and her people have set their mark deeply on Canada and her history, and Scottish immigrants have always been peculiarly welcome and peculiarly successful here. The somewhat harsh climate and lack of widely spread wealth in Scotland have contributed to the formation in its people of a character well suited to the work of building up homes for themselves in Canada. To those who know the storms of the Highlands and the frugal standard of living there, the winter of Western Canada does not present undue terrors, and the standard of living here is ample. We trust that those responsible for bringing these people to the West, whether government officials or private individuals, will see to it that they get the best possible advice and information to enable them to make a successful start amongst us. So far as we can learn, considerable care has been given in this direction already, and credit is due to those in charge. It is at least something for people who have come so far, to find waiting for them at the end of their journey a comfortable temporary home like the former Industrial School, where they can rest and take their time to look round them before beginning work. We think too that the welcome extended to them by the public bodies and private citizens of this district was a kindly one and done in the right spirit. Unselfish help and courtesy given to strangers coming amongst us as these people did, are never wasted, and will re-act to the benefit of both sides. We hope too that all individuals in this district will do what they can to prevent any attempts at exploiting these newcomers unfairly or in any way taking advantage of their ignorance of local conditions. We need more settlers of a good type. If we can build up a reputation for hospitable and straightforward treatment of all who come to us, we are likely to get more settlers and to keep them among us when they do come. Our district has a good name for its natural advantages. Let us see to it that it has a good name also for the fair dealing and uprightness of its people.

GREAT BRITAIN AND RUSSIA

What amounts to something very like an ultimatum has been sent by the British government to the Soviet government of Russia demanding satisfaction for various injuries and insults inflicted on Britain and British citizens by Russia. A British warship has also been sent to the Murmansk coast with orders to protect by force British fishing boats from interference by Russian vessels. These steps are thoroughly justified, for the record of the Bolshevik government is a long series of almost undisguised plotting, treachery, and breach of faith with all with whom it has to deal. In fact, only the want of power has prevented Russia from openly waging war on the British Empire, and only a wise restraint on the part of the British Government has led it to ignore repeated provocations and acts amounting to war. Probably the only results of the present ultimatum so far as Russia is concerned, will be the breaking off of the incomplete diplomatic relations existing between the two countries and the expulsion of the respective trade agents on both sides. Full diplomatic relations have never existed between Britain and the Soviet Government. Such breaking off of relations would not necessarily mean serious war, for the Russian Government has not the means to wage it against Britain. Its navy is hardly in existence. Its air force is mostly on paper. Its army is possibly still fairly numerous, but its equipment and discipline are thought to be very bad, and it is probably lacking in supply and administration services. Unless the Germans have been able secretly to train and equip the Russians, which is most unlikely, Soviet Russia need not for the moment be taken very seriously as an enemy of the Empire.

It is on the internal situation in Britain that the effects may be serious. Six weeks ago the Labour members of the British Parliament were joining with all other parties in bitter denunciation of the Bolshevik Government for trying and condemning to death leading Roman Catholic prelates on flimsy political charges. It was Mr. Jack Jones, a most truculent Labour member, who proposed to hold the only Communist member of the House as a hostage against the Bolshevists, and to make his life depend on those of the condemned priests. Yet now the Labour party, and of course the Communists, are threatening "direct action," which simply means forcible revolution, if the British Government breaks off relations with the Russians. It is a strange and lamentable attitude to take up. Not even the most enthusiastic of Labour politicians can deny the ruin and chaos brought on Russia by the Bolsheviks. A tyranny as absolute and more economically stifling than that of the Czar's has been set up and maintained with barbaric cruelty. Civilization has received a definite set-back over the whole area of the Russian Empire. Yet the Labour party, in its blind hatred of anything like the system of government and economics, which has existed so long in Britain, is willing to take all the risk of a forcible revolution in order to maintain semi-friendly relations with the Bolshevik Government. It is probable that the British people, if put to the test, would prove themselves unwilling to support the official Labour party in its extreme policy, but the very suggestion is disquieting both for the people of Britain and for the whole Empire.

A TRANSPORTATION ROUTE OF THE FUTURE

Some fifty years ago there was no Canadian Pacific Railway across Canada. The very idea was scoffed at as a ludicrous waste of money. The North-West, it was said, was a barren desert fit only for Indians and trappers. A railway across it could not possibly be made to pay. We know otherwise now, thanks to the courage and vision of a few great men.

Today also we have a great transportation problem. It is how to get our grain and other products to Eastern markets at a profitable rate. Now, it is a familiar story that transport by water is cheaper than transport by rail. The agitation for a canal to take ocean-going steamers onto the Great Lakes to Fort William is one more evidence of this. Is it not possible for a great system of water transit to be developed from the heart of the West via the Saskatchewan River, Lake Winnipeg, the Winnipeg river, Lake of the Woods and the Rainy River to the Great Lakes? At present the route is wholly impassable by reasons of obstacles of all kinds. The excavation of channels, the cutting of canals, and the making of locks would be needed to give a continuous practicable waterway. Yet we believe that the problem will be faced and eventually solved as was the problem of a railway across Canada. Vast as the task would be, the reward would be even greater. Canada is now a land of some nine millions. In fifty years it may be a land of fifty millions. That land of the future the waterway from the Atlantic Ocean to the shadow of the Rockies may well be no mere vision but a fruitful and vital reality. Let our readers turn their thoughts to it, and remember in doing so that in face of the achievements of modern science "impossible" has become a discredited word.

THE QUESTION OF DIVORCE

Last week in dealing with this question we suggested that it involved questions of (1) religion, (2) morality, (3) public policy, (4) justice and humanity to individuals.

The present law which allows divorce for adultery alone, has its foundation in the words of Christ found in the Gospel of St. Matthew in which He forbade all divorce except on that ground. To many people these words represent the first, last, and only binding authority on the question. They hold that without express or tacit repudiation of a direct and simple command of the Founder of the Christian faith no deviation of this rule is possible. There are others who go further. It is only in the Gospel of St. Matthew that the exception of adultery as a ground of divorce is given. Elsewhere in the Gospels the prohibition of divorce is absolute, and there is a considerable amount of expert critical opinion in favour of the view that the exception was not part of the original Gospel, but is a later interpolation. This is the basis of the doctrine of the Roman Catholic Church and of the more rigid section of the Anglican Church(which refuses to recognize divorce on any ground whatever. On the other hand, the Scots Law, which allows divorce for adultery or determined desertion, is based in the first case on the passage in St. Matthew's Gospel, and in the second on the words of St. Paul in his First Epistle to the Corinthians. It appears, therefore, that direct scriptural authority can be quoted in favour of (1) the ecclesiastical rule (which is not law) that there shall be no divorce at all; (2) the rule of English law, under which we now live, that there shall be divorce for adultery only; (3) the rule of Scots Law which allows divorce both for adultery and for desertion. It is absolutely impossible to decide definitely which of these views has the best authority and is more in accordance with the general spirit of Christianity. Bitter and uncharitable controversy has raged round them, the protagonists in which have certainly shown little regard for the essential spirit of that religion which they professed to be championing. It is well for those who hold any one of these three opinions to bear in mind that their view is not the only authoritative one, to remember that the Gospels as they at present exist do not seem to have taken on their present form till at least a century after the beginning of the Christian era, if not later, and that no manuscripts of them exist of an earlier date than approximately 400 A.D. at the very earliest. Unless therefore the doctrine is to be maintained that these gospels are the result of direct and literal divine inspiration marvellously preserved through long years of merely verbal recollection, all who found their opinion on scriptural authority should make allowance for the possibilities of errors in the text, omissions or interpolations, and should hesitate to pronounce dogmatic judgments on narrow readings of texts which are not wholly free from doubt even amongst the most reverend-minded adherents of the church. When so high-placed and earnest a prelate as the Anglican Bishop of Durham can say in a letter to one of the leading English newspapers that "neither the New Testament nor the teaching of the Church is decisive," and can refer further to the "ambiguity of texts and conflict of traditions," it is obvious that it is impossible to brush aside all doubts and hesitations on this question as being due to disloyalty to Christianity and to a growing spirit of semi-pagan irreverence. Men and women who still retain a vital faith in Christianity may well find justification for considering this question on broad grounds of essential morality and justice as well as in the light of those scriptures to which they still pay the tribute of reverence and respect. In saying this, we wish to express no shadow of disapproval of those who consider themselves bound absolutely by the words of the Bible. There are, and always have been, all too many who while professing adherence to the principles of Christianity, can always find a convenient method of explaining away any text which embodies a rule of life and conduct disagreeable to themselves. There is more respect due to those who finding a simple rule simply expressed accept it without equivocation, or, if they are unable to do so, admit the fact straightforwardly and are ready to face the logical consequences of their admission. We have stated the different possible aspects of the matter merely in the hope of helping our readers to form their opinions on this most difficult question in the light of the best information we can place before them. We have shown that our present law has its basis on the words of the Bible. Hereafter we shall consider how the law may be viewed from points other than the strictly religious one.

OUR NEW CITIZENS

(Calgary Herald)

There could be few better types of settlers than those two hundred and eighty Scots who arrived at Red Deer on Tuesday, after an adventurous voyage across the Atlantic from their old homes in the Hebrides. Others from the green and rain swept islands off the western Scottish coast have preceded them over the path that leads from Stornoway to the New World, and they have developed into some of Canada's (and America's) foremost citizens.

Pioneer life on the western plains will not be to them so severe a test of endurance as it would be to those who come from the congested cities of other parts of Britain. They are a sturdy and self-reliant people, these Hebrideans, and life to them is not a primrose path. Their former homeland is mostly wild moorland, and less than one-eighth of the area of the Hebrides is cultivated. They lived by growing root crops and grain, and sheep-farming and cattle raising which, with fisheries, constitute the main occupations of the islanders. The manufacture of tweed in the Hebrides has made them famous, for the home-spun of the crofters and the cloth makers is second to none.

It is reported that they will retain their language and their church. It is natural that they should do so, and so long as it does not interfere with their becoming Canadian citizens, cannot be objected to. Not all Hebrideans speak English, but all speak Gaelic. At the census before last, the population of the Hebridean Islands was 78,947, of which 22,733 spoke Gaelic only and 47,666 both Gaelic and English. But more important for Canada than whether or not they retain their ancient tongue is the fact that they are a splendid type of British settler whose character and moral fibre are strong, and who could not be better chosen as new citizens of a new land. They should be made welcome.

APPRECIATION

The Calgary Albertan of Tuesday last week, said:

"If we had coming to Canada one hundred such pilgrimages as landed in Red Deer today, it would be the very best that could happen to this province. This is a good time for immigration. Land is cheap and outfits were never as low as at present. The pioneer coming to Alberta at this time, has no troubles compared with the pioneer of twenty years ago, and that pioneer was in clover compared to the early pioneer of Ontario."

There was considerable discussion as to the comparative cost of plank and cinder walks, and as to whether there should be a frontage tax levied to cover cinder walks.

The matter of A. Forrester's claim for tax exemption on the building used as an armouries was laid over, as the solicitors had not yet reported.

The departmental reports were very satisfactory. There were no fires or alarms in April, but the Brigade had practised regularly and equipment tested.

The Police report showed a great deal of useful work done in preserving order, keeping transients moving, inspecting the butcher slaughter houses, the dairies supplying milk to Red Deer, etc.

The following accounts were authorized to be paid:

The Mayor reported that he had rented the old publicity building near the C.P.R. station to the Central Alberta Livestock Shipping Association for $80.00 per year. The Council approved of his action.

The Government had been written to concerning Englewood, and had replied they had not the slightest interest in the matter. The Mayor asked whether Mr. Carscadden's offer of $50.00 per acre would be accepted. Aldermen Galbraith and Gibson were opposed to acceptance of the offer, while Alderman McClure and the Mayor supported it. It was finally decided to lay the matter over to a special meeting of the Council when there would be a fuller attendance.

THE ROTARY CLUB

ment, stating that in 1907, when it started, it consisted of 12 boys, in 1908 there were 80,000, and in the Jamboree of 1920 there were Scouts of 63 different nations. The speaker then quoted Sir Robert Baden-Powell on scouting and war, stating that Sir Robert, in the course of his speech in Calgary said that in his opinion the only way to prevent war in the future, was by making citizenship and Christianity more an integral part of the civilized person that they are today, and, further, that this could only be done by developing the germs of Christianity from the inside to the outside, not by driving them from the outside in. This drawing out of the germ of Christianity is one of the great aims of the Scout movement.

The speaker then turned to the local problems of the Boy Scouts in this district, stating that to have a successful Scout movement, it was absolutely essential that the movement be backed by the people. Unless a Scout was a Scout twenty-four hours a day, he might as well not be a Scout at all. He was very anxious to have the parents interested in and conversant with the Scout movement, so that they would assist the Scoutmaster in reminding the boy of the Scout law if he ever showed signs of falling away from it while at home. The parents could also be of incalculable assistance by backing up the Scout training in other parts of life which the Scoutmaster never saw. He cited as an example the Boy Scout movement in Calgary, where, thanks to the efforts of various organizations, the whole population is behind the movement. The speaker then referred to the tremendous shortage of Scout officers, pointing out that there was no assistant Scoutmaster in the town, and if anything was to happen to the various Scoutmasters, the troops in their charge would promptly die a natural death, and all the work done be for nothing. He urged his audience that if they knew anyone who was willing to give one or two hours' work a week to the movement, that they would persuade them to assist in the work that was being done. This work was not only beneficial to the youth of Red Deer, but was for the good of the entire Dominion.

Mr. Crosby closed by saying that the local association was to be shortly revived(and he hoped that any of his audience who were at all interested in the Scout movement would come to the association meeting to be held in the near future.

For the first four months of 1923 a considerable increase in receipts over the same months of last year is noticed. The receipts in 1922 in this branch totalled $206,623.61. The receipts from the amusements tax alone amounted to $183,933.91. A LAST RESORT

A weary desert stretched for miles. Stretched for sheer weariness. Not a drop of water was in sight.

Then it was the traveller had an inspiration.

He wrung his hands.

"How are you?"

"Feel like an empty shotgun."

"Huh?"

"Boss fired me."

"Piraps he didn't know you were loaded."

"That's the trouble—he did."

"Money," they say, "is the root of all evil." It certainly should be reckoned evil, for we hear often of its being "tight," and also being "locked up"; whilst it is frequently "put in the stocks."

Here and There

The Swiss Government has appropriated 500,000 francs for the purpose of assisting the emigration of unemployed workers, especially as farmers to Canada.

Saskatchewan now stands first in the world in regard to the number of rural telephones per capita, with a telephone for every nine of the population.

The Canadian Pacific Railway has a survey party in the Rouyn goldfield, plotting a route in case it should be decided to push further northward the line now being built from Mattawa to Quinze.

Construction work on a 39 mile extension of the Acme-Empress line running from Drumheller to the Bull Pond will be commenced this year according to statement made by D. C. Coleman, vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Organization of the Okanagan fruit growers into a co-operative association has now been accomplished. Among the main difficulties which faced the co-operative advocates was the raising of adequate credit to finance the whole scheme. This has been overcome

The United States bought Canadian produce during February to the value of $26,719,205 in comparison with $20,116,356, Canada's exports to the United States in 1922. Exports of Canadian produce to the United Kingdom were $17,874,260 in February 1923, and $15,316,265 in February 1922.

Canadian exports of whiskey for the year ending March 31st, 1923, amounted to 339,321 gallons, valued at $2,698,377; for the previous year the quantity exported was 192,910 gallons, valued at $982,729. Ale and beer exported during the past year amounted to 1,454,629 gallons, while for the previous twelve months the amount was only 421,960 gallons.

Making Canada Europe's best and quickest road to the Orient means much to this country and the Canadian Pacific Railway, in rearranging its route from England or France to Japan so as to reduce the journey by four days, has made the route more than ever a serious competition of travel via the Suez Canal. About 10,000 miles in 21 days is better than even Jules Verne thought of.

A silver tag attached to the dorsal fin of a salmon before its release after the eggs have been removed at the Dominion Government hatcheries is one of the methods resorted to by the Fisheries Department for tracing the life history of the fish. A reward of $1 is paid by the Department for the return of silver tags that are being attached to Atlantic salmon, together with scales from the side of the fish, and particulars regarding their length, weight and place of capture.

With a view to developing tourist resorts along its line in Central and Western Ontario, the Canadian Pacific Railway will erect Bungalow Camps after the style of those successfully operated in the Rockies. The first three will be built in the Nipigon, French River and Lake of the Woods districts, and should be ready for occupation by July 1st. The low cost of construction and maintenance will make it possible to charge much lower rates than the standard hotel, and the camps will prove a boon to those of moderate means who desire to spend a week or more or less in the outdoors.

Here and There

An addition to the Canadian Pacific Montreal-Toronto train service is a nightly train each way, making six trains every night between the two cities. The increase was found necessary on account of the heavy tourist traffic to Montreal from the West.

The opinion of Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Minister of Lands of British Columbia, is that "Canada can absorb at least 300,000 people annually, and this number can come on indefinitely. There is no limit to the requirements of the country. As many as we can get are wanted.

Nova Scotia is endeavoring to arrange an "old home" month during July or August of 1923, and it is expected that many from distant parts of Canada and the United States will visit the towns of their origin during the festival period set apart.

Incomparable Lake Louise has achieved new fame. The makers of the Gray-Dort car have put out a model in a new color which they term "Lake Louise Blue." It is of a lovely green-blue, and if it has caught anything of the glorious gleam of Canada's most beautiful mountain lake it should be a popular color for other than motor cars.

Big Bill, the last surviving buffalo at the Pinafore Park Zoo, St. Thomas, was recently shot. The animal had been suffering for some time from the same malady which carried off his mate a few months ago. Big Bill was said to have been the finest specimen of Buffalo east of the Government Park at Wainwright, Saskatchewan.

Albert Steedwell, Canadian Pacific Railway engineer at Fort William, has an airedale dog that is a wolf killer. Mr. Steedwell has a farm at Upsala, and while visiting the farm the dog routed out a brush wolf and chased it. During the subsequent battle Rex could hardly tell which was dog and which was wolf. Mr. Steedwell went to the assistance of his pet and together they finished the wolf.

T. W. McKenzie, Canadian Pacific Railway agent at Rosemary, Alberta, has received letters patent on a device for the purpose of locking automobiles. It is so constructed that when the switch is thrown off the car is automatically locked, thereby eliminating the possible chance of an owner leaving his car unprotected. The device cannot be operated nor the car started by an unauthorized person without causing an alarm.

The number of persons killed or injured while trespassing on railroad tracks were 50 per cent. less in 1922 than the average of the preceding fifteen years. The figures are 5,300 for nine months of 1922 compared with 10,736, the average for the previous year, according to an announcement made by the Safety Section of the American Railroad Association. This reduction in casualties is claimed to be due to the improved policing by the roads and to success of the Safety First movement.

From September 1 to March 31 inclusive, the Canadian Pacific Railway has transported to Vancouver 7,884 cars of grain, representing 11,668,328 bushels. Last year during the same period the movement amounted to 2,802 cars or 3,967,632 bushels. From the beginning of the crop season 13,571,320 bushels had been exported from Vancouver, of which 11,128,620 went to the United Kingdom, 2,242,300 to the Orient and 200,400 to South America. Last year during the same period export amounted to 5,000,000 bushels.

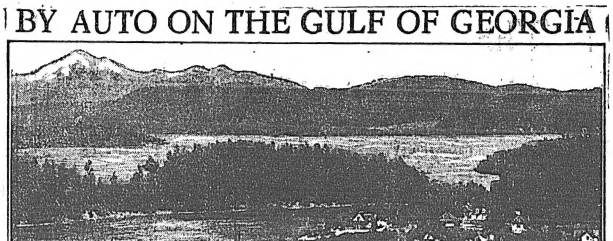
BY AUTO ON THE GULF OF GEORGIA



WHO has not heard of the thousand isles of the Gulf of Georgia? This Gulf is a ramification of the great strait of Juan de Fuca famed in legend and history, through which the Spanish navigators sailed hundreds of years ago, and which is now one of the important trade routes of the world. It separates Vancouver Island from the mainland of British Columbia and the State of Washington, and is one of the most beautiful waterways known to man.

The city of Victoria, at the extreme south end of Vancouver Island, has several ferry lines connecting it with the mainland, but as the steamship services in the past have proved inadequate for the large crowds of summer visitors and motor tourists, the Canadian Pacific Railway Company has put into service a fast-going vessel which operates twice daily between Victoria and Bellingham, Washington. The ferry is an important addition to the Canadian Pacific fleet and its name, "Motor Princess," is appropriate in that it is the first vessel of the company, operating on the Pacific, to be equipped with internal combustion engines. These engines give the boat a speed of about fourteen knots. On the two main decks there is parking space for fifty automobiles, and there is well appointed accommodation for two hundred and fifty passengers, saloon, restaurant, smoking room and deck spaces for promenading.

The route travelled by the ferry is marked by islands, some of them many miles in extent, others gem-like little islets which make the waterway a succession of magnificent pictures. The traveller is further entranced by the magnificent view of Mount Baker standing garbed in its everlasting mantle of snow among its satellites the foothills. This lordly mountain is on the mainland near Bellingham, and, beautiful and inspiring, it is seen at its best when travelling to or from Victoria.

He comes here for his clothes

The man who is habitually well dressed —who will not wear the extreme, but will not consider the commonplace— comes here for his clothes. Here he finds in the D'Orsay model—Society Brand —a suit that's correct anywhere. The excellence of the cut is not easy to describe, but you can't miss the smart curve of the shoulders, the easy roll of the lapel and the straight, clean cut line of the front.

CHEER UP!

A little bird sings; he sings all day—
"Cheer up! Cheer up! Cheer up!"
No matter to him if the skies be gray—
"Cheer up! Cheer up! Cheer up!"
He flies o'er the field of waving corn,
And over the ripening wheat;
He answers the lark in the early morn
In cadence cheery and sweet.
And only these two little words he sings—
"Cheer up! Cheer up! Cheer up!"
A message to earth which he gladly brings—
"Cheer up! Cheer up! Cheer up!"
He sings in a voice that is blithe and bold—
"Cheer up! Cheer up! Cheer up!"
And little cares he for the storm or cold—
"Cheer up! Cheer up! Cheer up!"
And when in the winter the snow comes down,
And fields are all frosty and bare,
He flies to the heart of the busy town,
And sings just as cheerily there.
He chirps from his perch on my window-sill—
"Cheer up! Cheer up! Cheer up!"
This message he brings with a right good will—
"Cheer up! Cheer up! Cheer up!"
This dear little messenger can but say,
"Cheer up! Cheer up! Cheer up!"
As over the housetops he makes his way—
"Cheer up! Cheer up! Cheer up!"
Oh, let us all learn from this little bird
A lesson we surely should heed;
For if we all uttered but one bright word,
The world would be brighter indeed!
If only earth's children would blithely say
"Cheer up! Cheer up! Cheer up!"
How jolly a world would be ours today—
"Cheer up! Cheer up! Cheer up!"

The Canadian exhibit at the British Empire Exhibition, to be held in London from April 20th to October 31st, 1924, is to be financed, controlled and directed by the Federal Government. The Canadian Pacific steamship "Empress of Russia," upon her last sailing, carried a shipment of Canadian frogs for Japan. Cool space was reserved in the hold of the liner and the travellers were well packed in ice. SOLDIERS MAKE GOOD ON LAND; PAY BACK LOAN

Three and One Quarter Million Acres Have Been Put Under Cultivation by Canada's Army.

The Soldier Settlement Board of Canada has accounted for the settlement on lands of the Dominion of a total of 28,940 men, of whom 22,548 have been assisted with loans and an additional 6,392 settled on Crown lands without loans. Settlement figures to the end of the year 1922 show that loans amounting to $93,235,902 have been made to ex-warriors, divided among the provinces in the following order: Alberta, $26,974,934; Saskatchewan, $22,729,281; Manitoba, $15,184,883; British Columbia, $14,221,218; Ontario, $7,483,650; Quebec, $2,252,600; New Brunswick, $1,921,505; Nova Scotia, $1,940,122; and Prince Edward Island, $977,704.

Year's Operations Considered Satisfactory

In the opinion of the Board the year's operations were considered generally satisfactory from the standpoint of repayments of loans which cover a twenty-year period. In past years, success of these soldier farmers have enabled them to complete their payments very much ahead of time, some three hundred in 1920 having paid off their total indebtedness. In 1922, the Province of Ontario showed the best results, with 73 percent. of the amount due by soldier settlers having been paid into the Board. The district of Regina in Saskatchewan was second with 70 percent. of payments made. The Maritime Provinces show 57 percent. paid and the Prince Albert district of Saskatchewan 56 percent. paid.

The number of soldier settlers who have given up their farms after a trial, amount to 13.7 percent. of the total who have received loans, or 10.7 percent. of the total number settled under the auspices of the Board. This is a very slight increase for the year just passed, and indicates that the soldier farmers whose efforts were not to prove successful dropped out early. The proportion is gratifyingly small in view of the fact that the large majority of discharged men ultimately settled, were recruited from other trades and professions, and in the consideration that the task of the Soldier Settlement scheme was not to devise a rigorously efficient land settlement scheme but intended to be an agency of mutually beneficial, civic re-establishment.

Settlement of 3,250,000 Acres

The placing of the Canadian army on the land has accounted for the settlement of roughly three and a quarter million acres. In 1922 nearly 200,000 acres were, it is estimated, in cultivation on the farms of soldier settlers. At the average Dominion production of wheat in that year, 17 3-4 bushels per acre, this would have accounted for nearly three million bushels of the Dominion yield which she would not have had otherwise.

Holidays & Half-Holidays

This store will not be closed on Wednesday afternoons during May and June

We have always been in favor of half-holidays during July and August, and for two years we closed on Wednesday afternoon in these months, before half-holidays were made general in Red Deer. On the third year, at a meeting of the business men, the proposition was made that all the stores close on Wednesday afternoons for four months, or have no half-holidays, the idea behind the suggestion being that we should not have any, and at that meeting four months was decided upon by a majority of two votes, and it was made unanimous.

Closing during May and June proved to be an inconvenience to many of our customers, and of little use to about half of our staff, because of service and work which had to be done, and in the last two years we have agreed to close in May and June against our better judgment and simply to be agreeable.

We have made a careful analysis of the business, and find that January, February, March, April,——July and August are non-producing months, while May, June,——September, October, November and December are the months of real activity in our business.

To suspend business on Wednesday in May and June is not only an inconvenience to our customers, but an added expense to the business, because, during a busy season we cannot do six days' business in five days without additional staff, which automatically reduces the earning opportunity of the regular staff, and eventually and finally is to their disadvantage.

During July and August last year our total sales on nine Wednesdays were equal only to one good day's business, which proves conclusively that our customers are not shopping on Wednesday during the hot weather, and in order that all may be served best, and that the staff may have as much time as in previous years, we are going to give them a full holiday on Wednesday during July and August, excepting only Exhibition week, and any week in which there is a statutory holiday, believing it will work out without inconvenience to anyone, and we will observe carefully just how it works out, for the guidance of our policy respecting holidays next year.

Our first duty to our customers, to our staff, and to ourselves is to conduct our business in the most efficient manner,—to put it over successfully,—and we make this explanation that we may be understood in our attitude respecting special holidays.

AMAZING SECRETS OF A RACE LOST FOR 10,000 YEARS

WHEN EVOLUTION SLIPPED A COG

Mr. Mitchell-Hedges Dazzles World Scientists With Treasures from a Land the World Forgot: Finds Which Will Revolutionize Theories.

An astounding report of a discovery, which, in many respects, seems to be of far greater import than even the recent disclosures at Luxor, has just been made in London by Mr. F. A. Mitchell-Hedges, F.L.S., F.R.G.S., the traveller and hunter, who returned in April from two years of exploration in Central America.

Surrounded by scientists famous throughout the world, Mr. Mitchell-Hedges calmly discussed the existence of a hitherto unknown race of people; described his reception by these people who never before had looked upon a white man, and then displayed to his hearers the tangible evidence of the truth of a story of scientific research far beyond the wildest invention of fiction.

Piled high in a closely-guarded room, loaned by Mr. Gordon Selfridge, are thousands of different objects which reopen all investigations into the civilisations of ten thousand years ago.

Among them are squares of picture writings which, when the key is found, may give the world a new history of the early human migrations. Mummified remains of men and women living centuries ago, but whose descendants still live, prove the heretofore ridiculous theory that America was first settled by the Chinese.

In another corner of the room there are relics which give proof that animals of the Jurassic period, thought to be extinct for millions of years, still live.

Stood Still for 10,000 Years

Around the room which Selfridge's has loaned to Mr. Mitchell-Hedges, and which yesterday was visited by officials of the British Museum and other museums, hang more than a hundred "gods" of a people which has not advanced since its isolation, six to ten thousand years ago.

In cases and boxes still to be unpacked are countless other souvenirs of a "lost tribe," which speak as easily today of events six thousand years ago as the people of civilized nations relate modern history.

When he set out two years ago to explore the Mosquito Indians and to carry out research work in the Caribbean Sea, Mr. Mitchell-Hedges little thought of the epoch-making discoveries that were to be his.

Obtaining legendary clues to a race of people which even the old Spanish adventurers were unable to approach owing to the hostility of the Indians, he sailed from Colon, Panama, voyaged 100 miles in his 30-ton yacht Kora, and eventually entered an opening in the reefs.

Then, after threading 150 miles of coral reefs and islands, at last he penetrated the hinterland of Panama.

There, in the Chucunaque country, he came upon a race of Indians who hitherto had never seen a white man or woman. They saw both last year, for Mr. Mitchell-Hedges was accompanied on this historic trip by Lady (Ritchens) Brown—to whose valuable help he pays grateful tribute.

Closely-Guarded Secrets

Neither science nor the museums have any authentic record to-day of this civilisation. According to eminent scientists, it will take perhaps two or three years before full meaning can be given to the immensity of the discovery.

Directly the significance of the evidence collected by Mr. Mitchell-Hedges was realized, the assistance of some of the greatest scientists of the day was sought and they have verified the opinion that the discovery is one of great moment.

To name but a few of Mr. Mitchell-Hedge's closely-guarded secrets, besides the picture writing on cloth, there are gods, barbaric necklaces, grave pots, images of pure gold, primitive weapons, chief sticks, and the entire regalia of chief medicine man and witch doctor, this last of great age.

The vast collection has been wrapped in a shroud of secrecy ever since its arrival.

Not only is it under lock and key, but secret service agents watch over it day and night. It is of such value that no price could cover it.

Mr. Mitchell-Hedges made other interesting and important discoveries. His two years' trip was undertaken with a dual object. He also set out to prove, if possible, that great fish and beasts of the Jurassic and Mesozoic periods still exist in the sea.

A thorough investigation was made of sea slugs, sea cucumbers, and other primitive life in the ocean, and many records were obtained that are absolutely unknown at the present day.

ONTARIO GENERAL ELECTION, JUNE 25

Nomination Date June 14; the House Formally Dissolved by Order

Toronto, May 10.—Speculation concerning the date of the approaching provincial general election was set at rest yesterday when the Drury government definitely selected June 25, next. The date was agreed upon by the cabinet, after which it was incorporated in the formal orders-in-council asking the lieutenant-governor for the dissolution of the present chamber. With the granting of the request by his honor, a mere formality, the fifteenth parliament will have passed into history.

The dissolution order-in-council itself is brief and purely formal. It simply acquaints his honor with the government's decision to the immediate dissolution of the present house, and for a general election to be held on June 25. Nomination day is also specified for Thursday, June 14.

Fifteenth parliament of Ontario which thus passes out of existence, was elected on October 20, 1919, and has held four sessions. When it rose on May 5 last, fifty-five members were sitting on the government side of the chamber; 26 were among the Conservatives, and 27 were with the Liberals.

THE SOLDIERS' ADVOCATE

(From the Ottawa Citizen)

When the report of the royal commission is discussed on the floor of the House, the fact will perhaps be brought out more clearly that the board of pension commissioners have never taken a very sympathetic view in dealing with applicants for justice. They have maintained an attitude of suspicion towards Canadian men who, often erroneously, but sometimes rightly, believed they were entitled to sympathetic consideration from the board.

The nation's solemn obligation, to do at least justice towards the men and dependents of men who were disabled on active service, still holds good. But the pension commissioners have never accepted any obligation to consider the interests of the men sympathetically. The onus is placed entirely on the applicant to convince the board that he is entitled to a pension, or to a readjustment of pension.

It is perhaps natural that a government department should adopt this attitude, of regarding applicants from the point of view of the watchdog of the treasury, rather than that of sympathetic administrators of the pensions act. The pension commissioners are not condemned in the report of the royal commission, but the verdict is plainly against them. Canadian men, to whom the country did owe something more than an official kick-out, have suffered injustice under the bureaucratic interpretation of the act. Disabled men have been put through severe ordeals, sometimes amounting to neglect and privation; some have died for lack of attention, when they were entitled to the benefits of a generous pensions act.

To Canadian soldiers, it is quite evident, have stood in need of all the support and assistance which their own organization, the Great War Veterans' Association, could win for them. They have been well served in many thousands of cases of readjustment, of pension claims and allowances, by the G.W.V.A. There is practically no other national organization in Canada to plead the case for the man who, asking only for justice, cannot present the case for himself.

In Great Britain, the need for maintaining the soldiers' advocate is officially recognized. Local pension committees have the financial aid of the government to carry on the work, which amounts in effect to serving as the soldiers' friend. In the United States, the federal government itself put through a clean-up campaign, to see that no soldier's case, entitled to consideration, should be neglected.

Contact officers are employed by the United States government to keep in touch with the ex-soldier organizations and, indeed, to hunt up individual cases, to assist the men to obtain the benefits to which they are legally entitled. This policy is surely more in keeping with the nation's pledge to the men when they went overseas, than to regard with suspicion the soldier applicants for justice.

The Great War Veterans' Association in Canada organized a clean sweep campaign in 1921; and many cases of injustice and bureaucratic treatment were disclosed as the campaign progressed. It led, in fact, to the royal commission on pensions and re-establishment.

The G.W.V.A. is probably the best medium for acting as the soldiers' advocate in Canada. It is able to take care of the men who would otherwise never be heard from . . . and it should be better understood by the Canadian public that the men at the head of the G.W.V.A. are not agitators, nor noisy malcontents seeking to pillage the treasury. They are doing national work, with no financial aid from the public, but financed entirely by themselves collectively. Similar work in Great Britain and the United States is paid for by government subventions or carried on directly by government officials.

It is to be hoped that the G.W.V.A. can continue to act as the soldiers' advocate in Canada. There is still much work to be done, and it is hardly a square deal to the members of the organization to expect them to pay for it entirely from their own pockets. It is national work.

All soldiers' claims, whether they are members or not of the G.W.V.A., are dealt with sympathetically; and, at the same time, the government has no better ally than the G. W. V. A against imposters and "lead-swingers." The public is indebted to the men who have continued to serve in civil life as they served overseas, actuated by the desire to serve. It means much to Canada to have such an organization. It should be kept together.

DEATH OF E. S. GRIMSON

(Crowded out last week.)

Mr. and Mrs. S. Grimson and family, south of Sylvan Lake, received the sad word on Tuesday of the death in hospital at Portland, Oregon, of their son, Earl S. Grimson, at the age of thirty-six years. The deceased had not been in good health for years, and around 1918 he and his sister, Miss Ella Grimson, who kept house for him, left for Seattle and Portland, Oregon, where they have resided since. Mr. Grimson's sister Thora lives in Seattle. The father was over to see them this winter for a month or so, and knew the son was not well. On Saturday the family had a letter that he had gone to the hospital, and Tuesday word came that he was dead. He will be buried at the Coast.

The deceased was born in Iceland and came out when a youth of seventeen to join his parents in this country. He opened out a grocery store at Sylvan Lake, and handled the postoffice. Then he became secretary of the M.D. of Golden West and of the Sylvan Lake village and school district, having removed his hardware business from Burnt Lake to Sylvan Lake, selling out finally to H. H. and D. H. Jamieson, who now operate it.

Mr. Grimson was widely and most favorably known and highly esteemed throughout the West country, being very faithful in his office work, and most obliging and genial in his dealings with the public. He was a member of Kenilworth Lodge, No. 29, A.F. & A.M., Red Deer. At the request of R.W. Bro. Fowler, of Kenilworth, Portland Lodge, No. 66, conducted the funeral, and placed flowers on the casket on behalf of the brethren of Kenilworth Lodge.

ALBERTA CROP REPORT

First Fortnightly Crop Report—Issued by Department of Agriculture, Edmonton, May 4, 1923.

Seeding of the 1923 grain crop is now general over the province of Alberta, and is proceeding under fairly favorable conditions. The opening of the season found the soil over the greater part of the province in very dry condition, which tended to restrict the area prepared for crop. During the past two weeks, however, there has been some precipitation, which encouraged the farmers to prepare more land.

Taking the province as a whole, the area now ready for crop is about the same as last year, but in most districts the farmers are holding back for better moisture conditions before seeding all of the land prepared. In the south-western district and in some of the central districts of the province, a somewhat larger area than last year, in several cases as high as 15 per cent more, is being seeded. In the south-eastern sections the area being seeded is less than the previous season. In the remaining sections of the province, the area is about the same as in 1922.

Wheat seeding operations over the province as a whole are between 60 and 70 percent. completed, and the seeding of oats has commenced. The moisture at present in the soil is sufficient for germination but not for any heavy growth. The weather during the past month has been alternately warm and cool, with light precipitation of rain and snow.

Fall rye is showing up well in most of the districts where this crop has been planted. Alfalfa in the southern districts has come through with practically no winter killing.

There has been a marked increase in many districts in acreage of corn for both fodder and grain. In some cases areas of from 40 to 100 acres of this crop are being planted.

Grasshoppers: Reports received by the department show little indication of garsshoppers so far, some reports stating that eggs do not appear to be so numerous as last year. The department, however, is making every preparation to combat the pest on its appearance.

Livestock generally speaking is in excellent condition, having survived the winter very satisfactorily.

DRAMATIC CLUB AT LACOMBE

(Crowded out last week.)

The Red Deer Dramatic Club motored to Lacombe on Friday night last, and presented to the Lacombe public the delightful little play, "Nothing But the Truth," that was presented in the city of Red Deer the previous week. The patronage given by the Lacombe public was very poor, but the few who attended expressed themselves as being more than pleased with the presentation.

The club regret that they can have little that is good to say of their treatment. The theatre was in no way ready for use, the patronage was poor, and the general attitude in Lacombe seemed to be to knock it because it was a Red Deer project.

There were a number of cars donated to the use of the club by citizens of Red Deer and the club wishes to express their thanks for this kindness.

MILK FEEDING EXPERIMENTS

(Experimental Farms Note)

The growth in dairying in the prairie provinces has resulted in a considerable increase in dairy by-products. During the past three years experiments have been conducted at the Dominion Experimental Station at Scott to determine the value of these by-products when fed to live-stock.

The first experiment was commenced in the autumn of 1920, when a Percheron filly foal in poor condition was fed milk in addition to its regular ration of grain and hay. The milk was fed from shortly before the colt was weaned until spring. During a period of 151 days the colt made an average gain of 2.9 pounds per day. This is the best gain made by any of the foals reared on the Station.

The following winter skim milk was fed to a pen of pullets, in addition to their regular feed, with the exception that no beef scrap was given. Another lot received beef scrap instead of skim milk. The average production from the latter pen was 25 eggs per bird, while the skim-milk-fed pen produced an average of 36 eggs per bird. A similar experiment conducted during the past winter has just been completed, and while both milk and beef-scrap-fed pens gave almost double the production of the check lot receiving no animal protein, the milk fed lot again gave the best returns.

Cheese experiments bear out the findings at the Dominion Experimental Station at Cap Rouge, Quebec. The results from experiments there have been published in Circular No. 31. Some experiments conducted in the United States go to show skim milk to be worth $1.40 per hundred while eggs are selling at 45 cents per dozen.

Buttermilk is another by-product that should be utilized wherever it can be secured at reasonable cost. In an experiment conducted during the past season, twelve purebred Yorkshire gilts were divided into two pens of six each. One lot received in addition to their regular feed seven pounds of buttermilk daily per pig. The grain ration for the check lot was identical with that given the other lot, but no buttermilk was supplied. It was found that after a period of 43 days the lot receiving buttermilk had made almost double the gains. During the next period of 68 days no buttermilk was supplied either lot. The pens were re-divided, one half the buttermilk-fed lot going on pasture with one half from the check lot. The remaining six pigs were fed in a dry lot. It was found that the pigs receiving buttermilk early in the season made the best gains during the second feeding period.

These experiments go to show the value of making use of these two important dairy by-products whenever on hand or even when purchased at reasonable prices.

RED DEER

THE REDS' WAR AGAINST RELIGION

From the Outlook, New York.

If the Bolshevik leaders are consistent, they may before long proclaim that no man can be a Russian patriot unless he is an atheist. Evidence is accumulating every day that the Reds' war against the priests and officials of the Orthodox Church is a war against religion. The brutal execution of Vicar-General Butchkavich, after a trial which recalls the prosecution of priests in the French Revolution by Fouquier-Tinville or the brutality of Judge Jeffreys after the Monmouth Rebellion, is only one act of this war, which has been increasing in violence for several years. This execution and the imprisonment of Archbishop Zepliak are to be followed immediately by the trial of the man who after the death of the Czar was made the head of the Orthodox Russian Church, Dr. Vassily Tikhon was chosen Patriarch of All Russia (a title which had been in abeyance since the time of Peter the Great) because the abolition of the Imperial Government deprived the Church of its head, the Czar.

The recent trial is only the culmination of a long series of persecutions and executions. A Russian writer a year ago quoted Bolshevik statistics showing that the Reds had killed up to that time twenty-eight bishops and over twelve hundred priests.

From an illuminating article on the subject of "Bolshevism and Religion in Russia" in the "Atlantic Monthly" for March, by R. O. G. Urch, for several years resident in Russia as correspondent of the London "Times," it appears that from the time of the Revolution which brought the Reds into power they have worked against the Orthodox Church—at first slowly and hesitantly, because the great mass of Russian people have been, and still are, attched to that Church—then more openly and more violently. They encouraged and helped schisms from the Church just so far as they could control and use those movements as tools; they used ridicule as a weapon—for instance, they put up placards everywhere saying, "Religion is a narcotic for the people;" they destroyed the sacred ikons; they at first mildly said that atheism was a matter of conscience, but later they provided official lectures against all religion; they have now taken all Bibles and religious books from the schools and libraries, "so that the children and workmen shall not be subject to their pernicious influence." They have shown that they hated the Orthodox Church, not because they disagree with its dogmas, but because they fear any kind of religious affiliation which might stir the conscience against their own acts of robbery and murder.

One peculiar method of fighting religion has been to encourage or organize burlesque religious processions at Christmas and Easter. Curiously enough, the Reds encouraged such attempts at ridicule not only against Christians but against Jews, as happened just the other day at Passover time. It is singular that in Poland since the execution of Mgr. Butchkavitch there has been agitation against Jews, on the theory, apparently, that the Bolshevik persecution of Christian priests were prompted by Jews. Nothing could be further from the fact. The Red Government is made up of men of different races and religions; it is not a pro-Jewish but a proatheist organization. The criminal's fear of morality and religion is at the base of this cruel and contemptible war in Russia against the Church. The Bolshevik excuse has been that the clergy have offered passive resistance to the seizure of church money and sacred vessels by the authorities. When this is looked into, it appears that the Soviet authorities demanded these treasures under the pretense of using them for relieving starvation and that the Church authorities replied that they were quite willing to use their resources for that purpose, but asked permission to apply the proceeds through a committee of their own. This was precisely what the American Relief Committee did, if we remember rightly at one time. In other words, nobody for a minute believes that the Soviet authorities could be trusted to use money to save their own starving people, and no one doubts that, if they had been trusted, the money would have been used in whole or in part for political or military objects.

A human and historic document which we earnestly hope may be published in permanent form and for universal reading appeared in the New York "Herald" on April 6. It is an account by Mr. Francis McCullagh of the trial of the Archbishop, the Vicar-General, and their fellow-priests. Mr. McCullagh sat through the entire trial. He was smuggled in, for the Bolshevik authorities refused to issue press tickets. He sent telegrams to his paper, not one of which got through. As soon as the trial was over he quickly left Moscow, and was then able to cable this intensely moving narrative. We may not quote directly, but we may indicate in a few words some facts and conclusions:

The correspondent most positively asserts that religious grounds alone actuated the trial, and that it is part of a movement for the destruction of Christianity in Russia. He describes with feeling the nobility and serenity of these devoted clergymen who were approaching martyrdom. They were asked to declare that they would not continue to teach the Catechism to children, and in every case the priest refused to make such a promise and refused with joy all radiant in his face. In the same way they all absolutely declined to promise not to say mass. Mr. McCullagh points out in connection with this that under the present Russian law even a mother may not teach any kind of religious doctrine, Christian or Jewish or anything else, to her own child if the child is under eighteen.

If the spirit of the persecuted priests in this trial was fine and unselfish, the conduct and attitude of the prosecutor (the bloodthirsty Krylenko), and of the judges on the bench were vile in their cruel hostility. From beginning to end the judges showed intention to convict, whatever the evidence. How little proof was really required is shown by the case of one priest who, when a Red policeman ordered his congregation to disperse, knelt down before the altar and went on with his service. He was in fact nearly blind, and did not know what was going on. But the court held that he was guilty of trying to incite his people against the police, and he received a sentence of ten years in prison!

The charge that the priests of the Orthodox Church have persistently intrigued with the Poles and have conspired to get Poland to attack Russia has not been supported. The relations of the priests with Polish ecclesiastical authorities were purely of a Church nature. These charges have enraged the Polish Catholics, and mobs have paraded through Warsaw, crying "Death to Communists and Jews!" So fierce has been the feeling aroused that reports are current as we write that another military clash between Poland and Russia is quite possible.

Russia's war against religion is already reacting against those who have incited it. It has aroused the indignation of the world without regard to sect or race. When in the French Revolution an attempt was made to destroy every vestige of Christian religion and to substitute for it the Worship of Reason, even Danton and Robespierre knew that the thing was as impossible as it was absurd. If Trotsky and Tchitcherin and Krylenko think that they can help their cause by destroying religious belief, they are ignorant of the deep religious feeling still existing among the great masses of the Russian people.

Bacon—"Your son at college writes a bold hand?

Egbert—"I should say so! He's just written for $150 more."

Mrs. Simper found herself for the first time without a cook. She had paid the highest wages and suffered patiently from their carelessness and caprice. After preparing several means with her own fair hands and gaining confidence in the art, she approached her husband with a brilliant proposition.

"What do you say, dear," she began, "if we do without a cook, and I keep the money for my very self? Suppose I cook for one month, what will I get?"

"Well," said the husband, "by the end of one month you will get one of those long crepe veils for widows."

HE WANTED BETTER ODDS

The first time that Bill, the farm hand, ever complained of feeling sick his boss sent him to town with the address of a doctor he knew. Bill came back next day and reported:

"Well, I took my medicine, but not from that doctor you sent me to—no, sirree!"

"Why not? Couldn't you find him?"

"Oh, I found his place, all right, with his name on a brass plate on the door. But underneath the name it said '10 to 1.' I wasn't goin' to take no such risk as that. There was another doctor next door, and his sign read '8 to 5.' The odds were so much better that I went to him."

AS USUAL

He—"So the engagement is at an end?"

She—"Yes."

He—"Who broke it?"

She—"The minister that married us."

First Youth—"Scientists say that trees contribute to the heat of the atmosphere."

Second Youth—"That's so; the birch has warmed me many a time."

WELL, ISN'T HE THE BEST MAN?

"I wouldn't marry the best man in ——."

"Of course not; you'd marry the groom."

OBJECTS TO COWS BEING PUT IN POUND

West Park, Red Deer, May 12th.

Dear Editor—

It was with righteous indignation that we residents of West Park received the news yesterday that our cows were in pound. It is not that we object to them being put into pound when they have done damage to gardens, but that they should be deliberately run into pound by boys for the sake of earning twenty-five cents. We know of boys waiting at the bottom of the hill, and running the stock in, when they were quietly grazing in the grass near the C.P.R.

If people keep their gardens well fenced, and the cattle break down the fences, well, we are willing to pay for all the damage done, but it seems unfair that they are run into pound when they are nowhere near any person's garden. Should it not be that only responsible people should run them in, not boys who deliberately do it to earn a quarter?

Yours very sincerely,
M. BEAN (Mrs.) William.

FAMOUS STARS IN NEW FILM

"When you dance you pay the piper," but the crooks in the new Edwin Carewe production, "Mighty Lak' a Rose," to be shown at the Rex Theatre next Friday, never dreamed what they would have to pay because of the music of the innocent young girl they tried to make one of themselves. This Carewe picture is said to be a powerful story of the charms of music. He has worked his story into a thrilling photodrama. Curtis Benton, author of several big screen plays, wrote the tale for Mr. Carewe. It is a First National release.
